“With me”

“With me.”

That’s one of the between 30 and 40 commands Keren Comfort Dog obeys.

There are others, including familiar ones like sit, stay, and come, and others such as lap or rise.

Keren is a Lutheran Church Charities Comfort Dog based at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Ellsworth. She has been at work locally for more than two months and has been very busy getting to meet people and know her community.

Besides being at the hospital, Villa Grace and Prairie West, Keren was at the summer lunch program and is often at the library letting children read to her and has visited Mosaic. She has also been in several other communities and has helped children at Natoma deal with their devastating flood.

She has a Facebook page and you can follow her adventures nearly every day. She is glad to visit and there is no charge.

Carol Kratzer is the Top Dog and can be contacted at jkkratzer@yahoo.com for visits or more information.

outward-focused churches in our denomination. It is good to associate with them. It is hoped that Immanuel will find new and imaginative ways to serve the community.

Many know about the amazing and wonderful things dogs can do — helping those who need physical help, detecting medical problems, detecting things that can harm others — and a wide variety of other benefits. Keren provides comfort, peace and a calming influence while proclaiming the mercy, compassion, presence and proclamation of Jesus Christ.

Getting an LCC Comfort Dog was a major initiative that was supported tremendously by people outside Immanuel. Grants and donations by organizations made it possible and Keren will be a great benefit to the community, region and state. The Ellsworth Independent-Reporter was an early and consistent friend and supporter of this aggressive project and that help is greatly appreciated.

So, why “with me?”

Keren, like most young dogs, has a tendency to wander off. She likes to pull ahead of her handler, or be distracted by something to the side and want to investigate, or go places she wants to go. However, those usually take her places where she can get into danger.

She also goes places that are unfamiliar, which can be upsetting to a dog. The handler is looking ahead and is aware of the surrounding environment to keep her away from possible danger. The handler also has a specific purpose or object for Keren and when she wanders off, she isn’t fulfilling that objective.

So the handler says, “with me” and Keren is supposed to get back where she belongs, by the handler’s leg where she is safe and protected and going where she is supposed to go. The closer Keren stays to her handler, the safer she’ll be.

As humans, we have a tendency to wander off. We are easily distracted and can go places that can be dangerous or not in our best interest. One of the earliest and most common statements of encouragement in the Bible is “with me.” God promises to be with us.

As Moses was getting ready to lead Israel to the Promised Land, he prayed “Lord, if you won’t go with us, please don’t send us.” You remember Psalm 23 — “Yeah, though I go through the very valley of the shadow of death itself, I will what? Fear no evil. Why? Because you are With Me.”

Jesus’ last promise was that we could go through life confidently because he would be with us to the very end of the age. The closer we stick to Jesus, the safer and more productive we will be, and the more confidence we can have.

Just like Keren.

Pastor’s Podium
